1998 Convention Attendees

Welcome to the Nineteenth Annual Convention of the Antique Doorknob Collectors of America.

Jerry Bosco and Ben Milligan were driven, almost to an extreme, by a force that some of us have observed or, perhaps, felt ourselves. Alarmed by the destruction of historical buildings in their community, they attempted to salvage as many of the architectural remnants as they could.

In the process, they not only accumulated vast stores of materials, but found themselves broadening their interests and knowledge beyond their original sphere. Now the owners of a considerable inventory of stained glass, as an example, they mastered the art of stained glass repair and in the process, became better informed about the various artists/manufacturers in that field.

I suggest that each of us this week reflect upon ourselves. Look into how we originally became interested in ornamental hardware and how we now view this subject. I believe, without exception, that we too have changed our perspective. Certainly we have become more knowledgeable and many of us have also either widened our interest to include hardware other than just doorknobs or, perhaps, have narrowed our sights to where we have chosen to "specialize"; more importantly, we have heightened our interests in preservation.

But the real story here is not about Bosco and Milligan acquiring the architectural items. It is the example they have set in defining a direction that is now embodied in the Bosco-Milligan Foundation and the Architectural Heritage Center.

The true value of the education and training within these programs is immense. The importance of instilling the concepts of architectural preservation is almost immeasurable.

We thank the Executive Director, Cathy Galbraith, her staff and her whole Portland Committee for inviting us here this week and giving us this opportunity to learn by example.

Each officer shall hold office until his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified or until his death or until he shall resign or shall have been removed in the manner hereinafter provided. THANKS FOR THE MEMORIES, PORTLAND
 Scene of the genesis of my Doorknob Odyssey

Memories of Jerry Bosco and Ben Milligan, they of the earliest all-time-great doorknob savers. Their generosity and encouragement.

Memories of Lis Fowler's
 1874 House
 in Sellwood
 and the myriad antique and
 salvage outlets
 who could not see a future for doorknobs.

Memories of The patience of resident artisans,
 to shop foremen,
 who clued me on
 glass, potting,
 and working with metals.

Memories of Countless trips up to the "crows
 nest" in the Multnomah
 County library that housed the U.S. Patent
 Gazettes. The
 reference and rare
 books sections.

Memories of The old Morning Oregonian building's "MO" knob (on all the office doors) whose plates carried this newspaper's masthead — a likeness of the state seal. Their library and files.
 The irresistible clatter of the presses, like a siren's call egging me on to get into print.

Yes, you were there for me, Portland, and my life was changed.
