PRESIDENT'S WELCOME MESSAGE

Welcome to the Princeton-Trenton area for the 2018 Annual Convention. In order to avoid reopening a long-festering dispute, I will not characterize it as either the 38th Anniversary or the 38th Convention. Our last Convention in the area was in King of Prussia in 1997, hosted by Bob Roder. The Tour Day featured visits to the Philadelphia City Hall (as magnificent a Victorian edifice as can be imagined), the nearby Masonic Temple, and the first Bank in the country from 1795, and the Liberty Bell.

This year we will visit some historic sites north of Philadelphia, starting with William Penn's 1680s house on the Delaware River, touring Bristol, Pa., and then the Grounds for Sculpture.

The Princeton-Trenton area had a unique role in the Revolutionary War – indeed, it was the cross roads, and Washington's maneuverings were crucial to victory. It is said that there Washington realized that the way to win the war was to not lose. So while no knockout was delivered to the British, the effective stalemate, with the British holding New York, and Washington in New Jersey, meant we did not lose then. That was hardly, however, the end of the War.

Briefly, it will be recalled, the British were ejected from Boston, and Washington moved his Army to New York. The British gathered a large force and invaded Long Island. Issue was joined and the British had the Patriots on the run, sandwiched between two British armies in Brooklyn and pushed up against the East River. But the British did not finish the matter that day. Fog rolled in, and Washington evacuated his army in total silence to Manhattan.

But he was pushed back to Northern Manhattan, he then evacuated again to New Jersey. He retreated across New Jersey, through Princeton to the Delaware River on the Pennsylvania side. Things looked very bleak. Then in the night of December 25-26, in the face of “hurricane” rain, sleet, snow and hail, his forces re-crossed the Delaware and fell upon Hessian troops in the Battle of Trenton. Some Hessians escaped, about 100 were killed or wounded, and the rest of the garrison (some 900 men) was captured. No Americans were killed. After appropriating supplies the British had left, Washington and his Army re-crossed to Pennsylvania.

The British recaptured Trenton, and attempted an attack on the Americans. Washington, under cover of night, attacked British troops, leaving a few troops behind to create the false impression that the Continental Army was still in Trenton. At one point, some British occupied Nassau Hall of Princeton University. The Americans set up cannons in front of the Hall, and two cannonballs were fired at the hall. The Americans ended up victorious, and the resulting resurgence in State Militias, forced the British out of most of New Jersey. They were left a small area in Central New Jersey, otherwise giving up in New Jersey.

These victories were a complete reversal of fortune, greatly aiding the American cause while convincing the British that they faced a long and difficult war. And it proved to be. But for the victories of Trenton and Princeton, it could well have been over at the outset.

And so we are here today.

WELCOME TO PRINCETON

Greetings to our ADCA Members and Friends. Welcome to the Princeton and Trenton New Jersey area. America's best minds and doorknob collectors have been visiting and meeting in Princeton, New Jersey for more than 200 years, from the first sessions of the Continental Congress to today's conventions, events, shopping, family activities, and corporate outings.

Wednesday will begin with an opportunity to visit the Golden Nugget Market. A bus will leave the hotel at 6 am to take those interested to the Market. It will return to the hotel at 9:00 am to pick up the rest of the group before going on to the tour.

Our tour will begin at William Penn's recreated 17th century estate, Pennsbury Manor Estate, which sits on 43 picturesque acres along the Delaware River. Then we visit Bristol, PA to see a small town living with a long history. Lunch will be at King George II Inn founded in Bristol 300 years ago.

The afternoon brings a change of pace with a visit to Hamilton, NJ and the Grounds For Sculpture. More than 270 sculptures are displayed on the grounds.

We hope you will enjoy this time with new and old friends as well find the knob or other treasure you are seeking. "Best of Theme", "Best of Show", and "Most Creative" displays are sure again delight us all.

A BRIEF HISTORY

The decades of 1950–1970 witnessed the often sad phenomenon known as urban renewal. Aging Victorian houses were destroyed to make way for modern city dwellings. With luck, salvage-minded opportunists arrived before the wrecker’s ball and bulldozer. Ornate hardware plucked from the ruins made its way to the hands and hearts of collectors, one of whom was a shy and reserved beauty salon operator from Tillamook, Oregon named Maud Eastwood. Not satisfied with merely owning a collection of salvaged doorknobs, Maud was driven by a need to learn. A true scholar emerged, and the hobby of doorknob collecting would never be the same.

Maud traveled the country, scoured libraries and patent documents, talked with collectors, historians, artisans – anyone who might provide knowledge about the whys and wherefores of doorknob history. We are truly thankful that Maud then made an even greater commitment, embarking to share the fruits of her research with others. The result was a remarkable achievement – that 1976 book, The Antique Doorknob (or “TAD” for short). National publications such as Old-House Journal mentioned TAD with praise, and suddenly Maud was contacted from near and far by kindred souls who had succumbed to the strange compulsion to collect old hardware.

1977 saw the publication of a newsletter, The Antique Doorknob. It wasn’t long before the knobbers clamored to form an organization, and small groups of collectors began to meet. By 1981 things were heating up. Arnie Fredrick brought the pot to a boil with an offer to host a meeting of doorknob collectors from around the country in Waverly, Iowa – the first convention.

The first convention was held in Waverly, Iowa,

September, 1981, and those attending agreed to the formation of the Antique Doorknob Collectors of America, or ADCA. Bylaws were drafted, the club formally “incorporated” and ADCA was granted official status as a non-profit entity. By the end of 1981 43 members had joined, growing to 100 in 1985 and to 200 active members in 1990. By year 2000 over 500 people had joined ADCA, with over 250 remaining as active dues-paying members. For simplicity’s sake this account largely omits the names of those who played key roles in the early years of the club’s formation, but it took the dedicated efforts of many individuals to achieve its success.

Mission Statement of ADCA

The Antique Doorknob Collectors of America is a non-profit organization devoted to the study and preservation of ornamental hardware. Established in 1981, the goal of the group is to collect, protect, and research antique builders' hardware, focusing on decorative designs, production methods, and period manufacturers. A long-term vision for the ADCA is the establishment of a public museum dedicated to the field of ornamental builders' hardware. This has evolved into the creation of "virtual museum" at www.antiqueknobs.us.

In addition to publishing an illustrated bi-monthly newsletter, the ADCA maintains an extensive archive of original manufacturers' catalogues and related materials. Able to inform and educate with displays and lectures through schools, civic organizations, or local libraries, ADCA members and resources are also available to preservation groups and restorers of historic properties for consultation and guidance.

Annual membership is $25.00 and includes a subscription to the organization's bi-monthly newsletter, The Doorknob Collector. For further information, contact:

ADCA POLICY ON GIFTS & BEQUESTS

The Antique Doorknob Collectors of America (ADCA) is incorporated as a non-profit organization dedicated to the study and preservation of ornamental hardware. ADCA will provide donors with appropriate written acknowledgements of all gifts in excess of $250.

ADCA proposes to use gifts and bequests to achieve the ADCA mission of preserving ornamental hardware and educating the public about the history of the hardware industry in America and about the design and function of such hardware.

Examples of ADCA activities that promote its mission include:

- Regular publishing of a newsletter about antique hardware and the activities of the ADCA and its members.
- Maintaining archival materials relating to the history of the hardware industry, and making copies of such materials available to the public.
- Maintaining an internet website to educate the public about ADCA and antique hardware, and responding to hardware questions posed by the public who visit the website.
- Hosting annual conventions where ADCA members and the public can gather to see and learn about antique hardware.
- Encouraging and facilitating the creation of public displays of antique hardware in appropriate public facilities, such as libraries and museums.
- Supporting the publication of books and articles related to antique hardware and the hardware industry.

Gifts and bequests given by the donor without restriction will be used by ADCA under the direction of the ADCA Board, to support and promote activities such as those listed above. Gifts and bequests given with donor designated limitations will be accepted by ADCA if ADCA feels it can comply with the wishes of the donor, and once accepted the funds will be expended according to the limitation imposed by the donor. Donors should make unrestricted gifts by stating that the gift is being made to the “Antique Doorknob Collectors of America.”

ADCA does not currently manage endowment funds, but ADCA will manage any endowment type of gift or bequest so as to preserve the corpus of the assets given and manage the assets so as to provide perpetual income for ADCA activities such as those listed above. Such endowment assets shall be considered “permanently restricted.”
